Program Notes

Light by Jennifer Higdon

Jennifer Higdon is the most performed living American composer working today. She is the recipient of several awards, including a Pew Fellowship, a Guggenheim Fellowship, and two awards from the American Academy of Arts & Letters. The Telarc release of Higdon: Concerto for Orchestra / City Scape won a Grammy award in 2005. Her work blue cathedral has been performed by 150 orchestras since its 2000 premiere. Some of her recent commissions include works for The Philadelphia Orchestra, Atlanta Symphony, Pittsburgh Symphony, Chicago Symphony, St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, eighth blackbird, Tokyo String Quartet, and Ying Quartet. Upcoming projects include a new violin concerto for Hilary Hahn. A solo disc of her chamber music was recently released by Naxos. She is on the composition faculty at The Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, where she holds the Milton L. Rock Chair in Compositional Studies.

Light was commissioned by the Green Bay Symphony Orchestra in 2006 and was dedicated to their Music Director, Bridget Michael Reischl. The music is inspired by a poem of the same name by Wisconsin poet-laureate, Ellen Kort.

La donna è mobile from Rigoletto by Giuseppe Verdi

Translation:

Woman is flighty
Like a feather in the wind,
She changes her voice — and her mind.
Always sweet,
Pretty face,
In tears or in laughter, — she is always lying.
Always miserable
Is he who trusts her,
He who confides in her — his unwary heart!
Yet one never feels
Fully happy
Who on that bosom — does not drink love!
Symphony #7 in A Major, Op. 92 by Ludwig van Beethoven

Written in 1812, Beethoven’s Symphony #7 was premiered the following year at a benefit concert for Austrian soldiers wounded at the Battle of Hanau. It was an immediate success and prompted Wagner to call it the “Apotheosis of the Dance,” and the critic Ernest Newman to describe it as “the upsurge of a powerful dionysiac impulse, a divine intoxication of the spirit.” Beethoven described the work this way, “I am Bacchus incarnate, to give humanity wine to drown its sorrow…one who divines the secret of my music is delivered from the misery that haunts the world.”

The second movement is based on a baroque Pavanne Dance and received an immediate encore at the premiere. It has an incredibly complex form and mixes a theme and five variations and a fughetta within a broader song and trio or rondo form. Beethoven’s use of motive as opposed to melody is very apparent here as the melodic line only has three notes that are repeated several times. The opening chord in the winds is repeated at the end of the movement to bring the music full circle.

Carmen Fantasy by Pablo de Sarasate

Georges Bizet's Carmen may well have been a failure at its premiere in 1875 (accounts of the opera's early reception differ only in the degree of animosity critics directed at the work, and none describes it as anything approaching successful), but by the early 1880s its fame was already such that the famous violinist Pablo de Sarasate felt justified in adding the opera to the list of famous ones – Don Giovanni, Der Freischütz, La forza del destino, among others – that he had already chosen to craft into concert fantasies for violin and orchestra or piano.

The Concert Fantasy on themes from Bizet's Carmen, op. 25, universally known as the Carmen Fantasy, is the only one of these operatic adaptations that still finds its way to the world's concert halls. Sarasate's appreciation of Bizet is total, and one cannot accuse him of defacing Bizet's remarkable music. Somehow, even in its most elaborately ornamented and virtuosically oriented passages, the Carmen Fantasy upholds the opera's dignity – something said of only a few operatic fantasies, indeed.

Adam Kirkpatrick
tenor

Dr. Adam Kirkpatrick, lyric tenor, joined the faculty at the Kennesaw State University School of Music in 2008. He previously taught at Georgia State University. Dr. Kirkpatrick received his BM and MM in voice performance from the Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music and earned his DM in voice performance from Florida State University. Dr. Kirkpatrick has sung operatic roles and concerts professionally in many theaters throughout the United States, singing with the Cincinnati Opera, Atlanta Opera, Santa Fe Opera, Tri-Cities Opera (NY), Dayton Opera, Florida State Opera, Knoxville
Sarasate's Fantasy is in four movements, with a prelude that in essence amounts to another movement. The prelude is an adaptation of the Entr'acte to Act Four of the opera (the Aragonaise), and the first movement adapts the famous Habanera sung by Carmen in Act One (L'amour est un oiseau rebelle) – here, the little grace notes that Sarasate adds to the chromatic tune are perfect.

Sarasate expertly crafted the gentle second movement to foil the active music all around it, while the F sharp/D major juxtaposition of the third movement shines every bit as brightly as [it] does in its original guise (the Séguidilla aria of Act One).

Sarasate makes a direct link between the third movement and the frenetic Bohemian Dance (from Act Two) that is the fourth. Here, raw virtuosity takes over, providing the violinist an athletic workout not at all unlike the one that Bizet's original version provides for the dancers and orchestra.- Notes by Blair Johnston

Romeo and Juliet by Sergei Prokofiev

This ballet was the first work Prokofiev wrote upon returning to the Soviet Union in 1934. The music was not immediately received well and prompted the dancers to claim that they could not dance to it. By 1936 Prokofiev completed the ballet and made two suites for concert performance. The music is melodic, full of lush harmonies, and is incredibly descriptive of the Shakespeare drama.

Michael Alexander

Michael Alexander is in his fifth year as the Music Director of the Cobb Symphony Orchestra and Georgia Youth Symphony Orchestra in addition to his duties as Orchestra Director at Kennesaw State University. Dr. Alexander has also served as Music Director of the Green Bay Youth Symphony Orchestras and as the Orchestra Director at Ripon College.

Active as a guest conductor, he has conducted in Europe, Australia and at various places in the United States, including a subscription performance with the Central Wisconsin Symphony Orchestra in 2002, the Maikop Symphony Orchestra and the Novgorod String Orchestra in Russia, the Bacau Philharmonic in Romania and the Catania Music Festival in Italy in 2003. In the summer of 2004 he served as Music Director for the Madison Savoyards Opera Company and in 2007 as guest conductor of the Illinois Valley Symphony Orchestra. He has also appeared as a guest conductor with the 2001, 2003, and 2005 Summer Music Clinic Orchestra at the University of Wisconsin and with the 2003-2006 Maud-Powell Music Festival Orchestra in LaSalle, IL.

In the summer of 2003 he completed his Doctor of Musical Arts Degree at the University of Wisconsin-Madison in orchestral conducting. While at UW, he studied with David E. Becker and served as an Assistant Conductor with the Symphony and Chamber Orchestras and UW Opera. Previously he has served on the faculties at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

Dedicated to music education, for two years, Dr. Alexander also conducted the Orchestra at Verona Area High School outside of Madison, Wisconsin; served on the artistic staff of the Wisconsin Youth Symphony Orchestra; and has contributed articles to the Teaching Music Through Performance book series. In 2006 he was the conductor for the Cobb County Honors Orchestra.

Helen Kim

Helen Kim joined the music faculty of Kennesaw State University in 2005, with a stellar performance background. A native of Canada, she made her orchestral debut with the Calgary Philharmonic at the
Kennesaw State University Symphony Orchestra

The Kennesaw State University Symphony Orchestra began in the fall of 2004. The orchestra performs a wide variety of repertoire from all time periods and styles. Students in the orchestra are made up of music majors and non-music majors with an interest in orchestral repertoire and come from distinguished high school programs and honor ensembles including the Atlanta Symphony Youth Orchestra, Georgia Youth Symphony Orchestra, Emory Youth Symphony Orchestra, Atlanta Youth Wind Symphony, and Metropolitan Youth Symphony Orchestra.

In its brief time, the KSU Orchestra has already collaborated with several groups and artists. Guest soloists have included Charles Neidich, Clarinet Professor at the Juilliard School; David Watkins, Robert Henry, and Alpin Hong, piano; Helen Kim, violin; Cathy Lynn and Allyson Fleck, violas; Jana Young, soprano; Charae Krueger, cello; and Doug Sommer, bass. In addition, each year the orchestra accompanies the winners of the KSU Concerto Competition. Guest conductors in the past have been Bridget Reischl, Director of Orchestral Activities at Oberlin College and Music Director of the Green Bay Symphony; Laura Jackson, Conducting Fellow with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra and Kevin McMahon, Music Director of the Wheaton Symphony. Other collaborations have included performances of Haydn’s Lord Nelson Mass and Mozart’s Requiem with the KSU Choruses and productions of The Yeomen of the Guard by Gilbert and Sullivan, The Elixir of Love by Donizetti, Gianni Schicchi by Puccini and Menotti’s The Old Man and The Thief with the KSU Opera.

The KSU Orchestra has also been fortunate to benefit from some exciting residencies including the Pro Arte Quartet, the Miami String Quartet, the American Horn Quartet; Alan Baer, Principal Tuba with the New York Philharmonic; violinists Joseph Lin and Peter Zazofsky; Albert Laszlo, Professor of Bass at Juilliard and Cincinnati Conservatory; and several members of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra has also collaborated with several area schools including performances at Harrison High School and Kennesaw Mountain High School. The group has also performed at Brenau University’s Pearce Auditorium. In 2010, the KSU Orchestra will host and perform at the College Orchestra Directors Association National Conference.
