KSU MEN'S ENSEMBLE AND CHAMBER SINGERS
Mass of a Troubled Time  I  Brian A. Schmidt

Brian A. Schmidt is Assistant Conductor and Administrative Coordinator of Chapel Music at Duke University in Durham, NC, where he serves as conductor of the Duke Vespers Ensemble and Duke Divinity School Choir. He is also the Artistic Director of the South Dakota Chorale, a professional chorus organization in Sioux Falls, SD.

As founder and Artistic Director of the South Dakota Chorale, he manages a roster of professional singers from around the United States that gather and perform in Sioux Falls, SD. Since its founding in 2009, his leadership has guided the South Dakota Chorale to rapid growth, including the production of their first commercial album, In Paradisum: The Healing Power of Heaven. Released in May of 2012 by Gothic Records and distributed internationally by Naxos Records, the album was cited in the body of work that aided producer Blanton Alspaugh in winning the 2013 GRAMMY award for “Best Classical Producer.”

Brian was the founder and director of the Dakota Men’s Ensemble and led them as a demonstration choir on National Convention (2005 in Los Angeles), and a performing choir on the Regional (2006, Omaha) and State (2006, South Dakota) ACDA conventions. Brian has studied with Dr. Jerry McCoy, Dr. Richard Sparks, Charles Bruffy, and Craig Hella Johnson.

Schmidt graduated from the University of North Texas, where he completed the DMA and MM degrees under the direction of Jerry McCoy and Richard Sparks, along with early music studies with Lyle Nordstrom and Lenora McCroskey. Prior to that, he completed a B.M.E. in Choral Conducting from South Dakota State University. In 2004, recipient of the ACDA Raymond W. Brock Memorial Student Composition award for his piece “Lux Aeterna,” published by Walton Music. He maintains an active career as conductor and composer, where his works are published with Colla Voce, Inc., Walton Music, and GIA Music, Inc.

Mass of a Troubled Time was written in loving memory of his grandmother Margaret C. Urbach after her death. This mass is a song of hope defining the struggles, anguish, longing, and heartache after a loved one’s passing. The movements Kyrie, Gloria Sanctus/Benedictus, Agnus Dei are original to the mass structure with the inclusion of Psalm 23 in place of the traditional Credo text and a final Amen.

III. Psalm 23

The Lord is my Shepherd,
I shall not want.
He makes me lie down in green pastures,
He leads me by quiet waters.
He restores my soul,
And leads me by the paths of righteousness,
for His name’s sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil for You are with me Lord.
Your rod and Your staff, they give me comfort.
For You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies,
You anoint me and fill my cup,
Surely goodness and love will follow me all the days of my life and I’ll dwell in the house of the Lord forever, forevermore! Amen.

Franz Schubert composed six Masses in Latin and one in German, the Deutsche Messe. He was just 18 when he composed his second mass, the Mass in G. The most familiar and popular of his masses, it was finished in six days during March 1815, for a performance in the Lichtenenthal Church where he sang as a youth.

The text is that of the traditional Roman Catholic Mass. Dennis Shrock comments, “Unique to Schubert, portions of the Gloria and Credo texts in all the [six Latin] masses are varied: individual words are repeated, the standard order of phrases is interchanged, and, most striking, some words and phrases are deleted. The deletions—such as Qui sedes ad dexteram Patris (who sits at the right hand of the Father) and Credo in unam sanctam, catholicam et apostolicam Ecclesiam (I believe in one holy, catholic, and apostolic church) from the Credo—are intriguing and inexplicable.”

The Kyrie is divided into three parts: Kyrie, Christe, Kyrie in ABA form. The beginning Kyrie is homophonic and gently lyrical. The Christe section begins with an expressive soprano solo, and the chorus enters to finish the section. The movement ends with a restatement of the Kyrie.

The Gloria also is divided into three sections, but is more elaborate than the Kyrie. The opening section is choral. Schubert adds soloists to the middle section, but returns to the chorus to complete the movement. This movement is both joyful and majestic. The chorus enters with strength, and Schubert makes great use of dynamic contrasts in such passages as the loud et in terra pax, followed by the soft hominibus bonae voluntatis. He varies use of the full chorus with dialogues between sections, such as the soprano/alto adoramus te, which is repeated by the tenors and basses. The dialogue becomes more complex at the Domine Deus, Agnus Dei. Soprano and bass soloists exchange texts, while the chorus comments with a third text, miserere nobis. The full chorus returns at the Quoniam with a variant of the opening melody, expressing a driving intensity through to the end of the movement.

The Credo is underlaid by a consistent steady rhythm throughout the entire movement, giving it a somewhat relentless motion. Schubert begins the movement with full chorus. He uses dynamics to add to contrast, and again employs dialogues between sections, e.g., sopranos and altos at In unum Dominum, answered by tenors and basses with Jesum Christum. The full chorus re-enters at Deum de Deo. The movement reaches an intensity at the Crucifixus. In many versions of the Mass, composers choose this point to write the most soft, hushed music, expressing the solemnity of the moment. Not so the free-thinking Schubert, who presents the text strongly and emphatically, preparing the way for the climax of the Mass at the joyous Et resurrexit. As the movement ends, Schubert returns us to the musical pattern and soft mood of its beginning.

The stately Sanctus is accompanied by a measured, dotted rhythm. It is followed by a merry Osanna in excelsis, that Schubert sets as a four-part fugue. He reserves the Benedictus for the soprano, tenor, and bass soloists, who sing lyrical, flowing melodies. The chorus returns with a repeat of the Osanna.

Schubert sets his passionate Agnus Dei for soprano and bass soloists, interspersed with soft commentary by the chorus on the texts, miserere nobis and dona nobis pacem. The Mass ends quietly as it began.

The Ground  |  Ola Gjeilo

Ola Gjeilo, composer, has earned degrees from the Norwegian Academy of Music in Oslo, the Royal College of Music, London, and the Juilliard School, New York. He has also studied film composition and scoring at the University of Southern California. He has received many commissions and prizes, has been Composer-in-Residence for the Grammy-award winning Phoenix (Arizona) Chorale, conducted by Charles Buffy, and has been featured on PBS. His music is receiving worldwide attention. Gjeilo’s musical influences include classical, jazz, and folk music, in particular Keith Jarrett, Philip Glass and John Adams. He has created a number of scores for short films; his interest in this medium is palpable in the tone-painting (portrayal of visual effect through sound) in the Sunrise Mass for Choir and String Orchestra (2008).

The final movement, Identity, reprises the opening motif of The Spheres. Like the calm after a storm, Identity sets the scene for sunlight to burst through the clouds. It does so in the reassuring, tender, embracing music of The Ground. Gjeilo comments, “The chorale, beginning at Pleni sunt caeli… is the culmination of the Mass, and it’s called Identity & The Ground because I wanted to convey a sense of having ‘arrived’ at the end of the Mass; to have reached a kind of peace and grounded strength, after the long journey of the Mass, having gone through so many different emotional landscapes.”
