

October 2008

We Love Libraries!

Lyn Hopper

Georgia Public Library Service, lyn@lynhopper.com

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.kennesaw.edu/glq>

 Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Hopper, Lyn (2008) "We Love Libraries!," Georgia Library Quarterly: Vol. 45 : Iss. 3 , Article 3.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.kennesaw.edu/glq/vol45/iss3/3>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by DigitalCommons@Kennesaw State University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Georgia Library Quarterly by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@Kennesaw State University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@kennesaw.edu.

We Love LIBRARIES!

---

Welcome to a new feature in GLQ, written for — and by — library trustees, Friends and advocates, i.e., those who love libraries! And what better person to kick off this new column than Dr. Gordon Baker, chair of the Henry County Library System board of trustees and of the Georgia Library Trustees, Friends, and Advocates Association. Dr. Baker was a school media specialist at the elementary, middle school and high school levels, concluding his 30-year career at Henry County Schools as coordinator of Media Services & Instructional Technology. He currently serves as director of libraries at Clayton State University.

In the coming issues, we will offer resources, success stories, best practices and counsel for library trustees, Friends and advocates for all types of libraries: academic, school, special and public. I hope you'll consider joining the organizations that support the development and networking of Georgia Friends and trustees. Friends of Georgia Libraries, or FOGL, offers high-quality workshops on Friends groups, advocacy and related topics, as well as other events throughout the year. For more information and a membership form, visit the FOGL Web site at www.georgia-friends.org. The Georgia Library Trustees, Friends, and Advocates Association is a division of the Georgia Library Association. For more information on GLA, see <http://gla.georgialibraries.org/>.

We want to hear from you. If you are interested in being a guest author or submitting your stories, please contact me at lhopper@georgialibraries.org or 404-235-7134. I look forward to facilitating our communication in the service of strengthening Georgia's libraries and helping them become more visible and viable now and for the future.

— Lyn Hopper

Assistant State Librarian for Library Development Georgia Public Library Service

---

You're a trustee — now what?

by Dr. Gordon N. Baker

Each year new trustees are appointed to library boards across Georgia. All public library trustees are appointed by local funding agencies of the library system. For our system in Henry County, these funding agencies are the Board of Commissioners and the Board of Education. Although in many systems, funding agencies appoint library board members at large, regardless of district, in our case each district commissioner appoints one board member. The chair of the commission is responsible for another appointment, and the Board of Education has one appointee.

As a new trustee, you have some important responsibilities, but you also have a wealth of information at your fingertips.

First, you have a library director who has an advanced degree in library science and who has participated in ongoing staff development activities to learn new tricks and trends.

Second, you have your fellow board members, many of whom have served for several years on the board. Third, you have the state library agency, Georgia Public Library Service (GPLS). GPLS has created a very helpful training manual for Georgia public library trustees. Your library director will provide you with a copy. It is your responsibility to study this resource and then ask questions.

Finally, you have professional associations to assist you in becoming