Ney Rosauero - *Three Preludes for Solo Marimba

Ney Rosauero is a Brazilian composer and percussionist. His compositions include solos for marimba, vibraphone and multi-percussion setups, as well as music for percussion ensembles and orchestras. A common theme in his work is the use of traditional Brazilian melodies and keys to create music with Brazilian roots.

Jacques Delécluse - *Douze Etudes No. 7

Jacques Delécluse was born in September of 1933, and he is now retired from the Orchestre de Paris and from the Conservatoire de Paris, but he is still composing music, giving master classes, and participating on juries of many exams, auditions, and competitions. Jacques truly created a “school of percussion” and has deeply influenced generations of percussion players and teachers not only in France, but all over the world.

Frédéric Mazcarez - *Snare System No. 1

Frédéric Mazcarez is one of the most active percussion artists of his generation. Through his different musical and pedagogical activities, he always shows his concern for growth of Arts of Percussion, for excellence of musical performance and for establishment of strong links between the different actors involved in all the percussion fields. Frédéric Mazcarez is the founder and Director of the International Percussion Festival “perKumania”, and he is also the Director of the “PAS International Instrument Competition” in Paris.

Max Roach - *Stompin' at the Savoy

Max Roach is generally considered one of the most important drummers in history. He worked with many of the greatest jazz musicians, including Coleman Hawkins, Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker, Miles Davis, Duke Ellington, Charles Mingus, Sonny Rollins and Clifford Brown. He was known for his highly responsive and contrapuntal style, engaging his fellow musicians in an open-ended conversation while maintaining a rock-solid pulse.

Brian Blade - *Jazz Crimes

Brian Blade grew up in Shreveport, then New Orleans, where he distilled the unique drumming styles and musical heritage of the nation’s spiritual underbelly into a powerfully swinging percussive trademark. Nurtured under the watchful eyes of Ellis Marsalis and New Orleans Dixie-drum masters Johnny Vidacovich and Herlin Riley, Blade learned to find his ‘knit in the blanket’ of sounds and styles. He is one of the most sought after jazz drummers of this era.

Art Blakey - *This I Dig of You

A leading drummer of the post-World War II bop style epitomized by Charlie Parker, Blakey was better known for his leadership of his Jazz Messengers, one of the longest-running and consistently-excellent groups in jazz. Blakey’s drumming was predictably swinging and his solos were astonishing for their power, wit and poly-rhythms.

Benny Golson - *Stablemates

Stablemates is a jazz standard written by Benny Golson, jazz saxophonist. The selection to be featured last on the program will be an improvisational interpretation of the famous tune.
