Hark, I Hear The Harps Eternal | arr. Alice Parker (b. 1925)

Alice Parker studied at Smith College and then received her master’s degree from the Julliard School where she studied choral conducting with Robert Shaw. Ms. Parker arranged many works with Robert Shaw of folksongs, hymns and spirituals, which formed an enduring repertoire for choruses all around the world. One of her many folksong arrangements, Hark, I Hear The Harps Eternal, evokes a strong rhythmic drive with two intriguing juxtaposed motives. This folksong arrangement has been a staple in the choral repertoire for 40 years.

Hark, I hear the harps eternal
Ringing on the farther shore,
As I near those swollen waters
With their deep and solemn roar.

Hallelujah, hallelujah,
Hallelujah, Praise the Lamb!
Hallelujah, hallelujah,
Glory to the great I AM!

And my soul, tho’ stain’d with sorrow,
Fading as the light of day,
Passes swiftly o’er those waters,
To the city far away.

Souls have cross’d before me, saintly,
To that land of perfect rest;
And I hear them singing faintly
In the mansions of the blest.

Hallelujah, hallelujah,
Hallelujah, Praise the Lamb!
Hallelujah, hallelujah,
Glory to the great I AM!

O magnum mysterium | Ivo Antognini (b. 1963)

Ivo Antognini is a modern Swiss composer whose works have received numerous accolades and are published all around the world. The text of O magnum mysterium originates from the Matins of Christmas and was a responsorial chant proclaiming the birth of Jesus Christ.
O magnum mysterium,
et admirabile sacramentum,
us animalia viderent Dominum
natum,
iancentem in praesepio.
Beata virgo, cuius viscera
murerunt portare
Dominum Christum.
Alleluia.

O great mystery,
and wonderful sacrament,
that animals should see the new-born Lord,
lying in a manger.
Blessed is the Virgin whose womb
was worthy to bear
Christ the Lord.
Alleluia!

Achieved is the Glorious Work | Joseph Haydn (1732-1809)
from The Creation

- Huijeong Lee and Grace Johnston, violins
- Rachel Fishback, viola
- Michael Roberts, cello

Joseph Haydn is one of the great composers of the Classical Era. He is considered to be one of the pinnacles of true Classical tradition alongside Mozart. Achieved is the Glorious Work comes from Haydn’s oratorio The Creation written in 1798. Haydn conceived The Creation after attending the Handel Commemoration at Westminster Abbey in 1791. The intricate fugal writing in a Handelian style evidences this influence. The text for Achieved is the Glorious Work references the end of the sixth day of creation.

Achieved is the glorious work;
Our song let be the praise of God.
Glory to His Name forever.
He, sole, on high, exalted reigns,
Hallelujah!

He Never Failed Me Yet | Robert Ray (b. 1946)

- Marcel Benoit III, Kenan Mitchell and Brittany Griffith, soloists
- Christina Vehar, Grace Breazeale, Xandrya Edwards and Sierra Manson, soloists

Robert Ray graduated from Northwestern University with a degree in piano performance. He wrote Gospel Mass in 1979 and recently premiered the orchestral version of his Gospel Magnificat with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. He Never Failed Me Yet is a powerful gospel work with tremendous appeal and a definitive stylistic character.

I will sing of God’s mercy,
Every day, every hour, He gives me power.
I will sing and give thanks to Thee
For all the dangers, toils and snares
That He has brought me out.

He is my God and I'll serve Him,
No matter what the test.
Trust and never doubt,
Jesus will surely bring you out,
He never failed me yet.

I know God is able to deliver in time of storm.
And I know that He'll keep you
Safe from all earthly harm.
One day when my weary soul is at rest,
I'm going home to be forever blessed.
Trust and never doubt,
Jesus will surely bring you out,
He never failed me yet.

Didn't my God deliver Moses from King Pharaoh?
And didn't He cool the fiery furnace
For Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego?
When I think of what my God can do,
He delivered Daniel,
I know He will deliver you.
Trust and never doubt,
Jesus will surely bring you out,
He never failed me yet.

KENNESAW STATE UNIVERSITY MEN’S ENSEMBLE

Quatre petites prières de Saint François d’Assise | Francis Poulenc
(1899-1963)

Movement IV

Forrest Starr, soloist

"Of course I honor Saint Francis," commented Francis Poulenc on one occasion, "but he is a little intimidating. At any rate, I wanted my musical settings of his poignant little prayers to be an exercise in humility."

Scored for a cappella men's choir, Poulenc's Quatre petites prières de St. François d’Assise were composed for and dedicated to the monastery choir at Champfleury and particularly for a monk named Frère Jérôme, Poulenc's great-nephew.
The archaic textures of plainchant and early polyphony are utilized throughout. The Medieval sounds of Leonin’s Notre Dame School are blended seamlessly with Poulenc’s own musical language to create a piece that shares a certain reverence and solemnity with its predecessors.

O mes très chers frères et mes enfants bénis pour toute l’éternité, écoutez-moi, écoutez la voix de votre Père:

Nous avons promis de grandes choses, on nous a promis de plus grandes; gardons les unes et soupirons après les autres. Le plaisir est court, la peine éternelle. La souffrance est légère, la gloire infinie. Beaucoup sont appelés, peu sont élus, tous recevront ce qu’ils auront mérité. Ainsi soit-il.

O my very dear brothers and my children blessed for all eternity, listen to me, listen to the voice of your Father:

We have promised great things, we have been promised yet greater than them; let us keep the former and long for the latter. The pleasure is brief, the punishment eternal. The suffering is light, the glory infinite. Many are called, few are chosen. All will receive what they have merited. So be it.

Nella fantasia / Vita nostra | arr. David Maddux (b. 1954)

Savannah English, oboe

The song Nella fantasia (In My Fantasy) was originally an instrumental piece called Gabriel’s Oboe from the motion picture The Mission (1986), but British soprano Sarah Brightman hounded Academy Award® winning composer Ennio Morricone for several years to turn it into a song until he finally relented. With an original Italian text by Chiara Ferraù, Nella fantasia first appeared on Brightman’s 1998 album, Eden. The song’s fantasy envisions a just world of peace and harmony, a world that grows ever brighter where we may … dream of spirits that are always free, like the clouds that fly, full of humanity in the depths of the spirit.

Nella fantasia io vedo un mondo giusto,
Che soffia sulle città, come amico.

Io sogno d'anime che sono sempre libere,

Come le nuvole che volano,

Pien' d'umanità in fondo all'anima.

Nella fantasia io vedo un mondo chiaro,

Lì anche la notte è meno oscura.

Io sogno d'anime che sono sempre libere,

Come le nuvole che volano.

Nella fantasia esiste un vento caldo,

Che soffia sulle città, come amico.

Io sogno d'anime che sono sempre libere,

Come le nuvole che volano,

Pien' d'umanità in fondo all'anima.

Vita, vita nostra

Tellus nostra

Vita nostra

Sic clamant

Poena, poena nostra

Vires nostra

Poena nostra

Sic clamant

Ira, ira nostra

Fides nostra

Ira nostra

Sic clamant

That breathes on the cities, like a friend.

I dream of souls that are always free,

Like the clouds that fly,

Full of humanity in the depths of the soul.

In my imagination I see a bright world,

Even the night is less dark there.

I dream of souls that are always free,

Like clouds that fly.

In my imagination there exists a warm wind,

That breathes on the cities, like a friend.

I dream of souls that are always free,

Like clouds that fly,

Full of humanity in the depths of the soul.

Life, our life

our land

our life

so they say

Punishment, our punishment

our violence

our punishment

so they say

Anger, our anger

our faith

our anger

Prayer of the Children  | music by Kurt Bestor (b. 1958)
arr. Andrea S. Klouse (b. 1955)

Kurt Bestor is an American composer, performer, and arranger. Bestor’s Prayer of the Children is his most famous and most performed choral composition. This piece was written in light of the Yugoslav wars to honor the children of the former Yugoslavia. Ironically, this song was never intended for publication. The inspiration for Prayer of the Children came while Bestor was living in the former Yugoslavia and witnessing the horrendous civil war that was taking place. The composition was inspired by the frustrations and deep feelings he had for the suffering children.

Can you hear the prayer of the children?
On bended knee, in the shadow of an unknown room.
Empty eyes with no more tears to cry,
Turning heavenward toward the light

Crying Jesus, help me
To see the morning light of one more day
But if I should die before I wake,
I pray my soul to take

Can you feel the hearts of the children?
Aching for home, for something of their very own
Reaching hands, with nothing to hold on to,
But hope for a better day a better day

Crying Jesus, help me
To feel the love again in my own land
But if unknown roads lead away from home,
Give me loving arms, away from harm

Can you hear the voice of the children?
Softly pleading for silence in a shattered world?
Angry guns preach a gospel full of hate,
Blood of the innocent on their hands

Crying Jesus, help me
To feel the sun again upon my face,
For when darkness clears I know you're near,
Bringing peace again

Dali cujete sve djecje molitive?
(Croatian translation: 'Can you hear all the children's prayers?')
Can you hear the prayer of the children?
Wedding Qawwali | A. R. Rahman (b. 1966) | arr. Ethan Sperry (b. 1971)

Selena Sanchez, Brooks Payne, Joe Donohue, percussionists

A qawwali is a musical form that traces its origins back to 14th century Persia. Even though the lyrics of many qawwali’s may appear secular, they are all meant to emphasize praise and longing for the Divine and humanity’s relationship with God. Today qawwali’s are heard primarily in India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh and are performed exclusively by men. Eight to ten musicians sit cross-legged on the ground in two rows: soloists and harmonium player/instrumentalists in front and chorus and percussionists in back. Instruments and soloist begin in a somewhat improvisatory fashion, followed immediately by the soloist singing the first verse. The chorus and percussion enter last, adding texture and complexity to the sound and restating the most important line in the song: “Sohna mera sohna, mahti sohna” (my darling is like gold).

This particular qawwali setting comes from a contemporary musical, Bombay Dreams, written by Bollywood composer A. R. Rahman. The story focuses on Akaash, a man who struggles with his abrupt rise to fame and wealth from humble beginnings in a Bombay slum. The wedding is a culmination event of the musical, when Akaash finally weds Priya (a wealthy woman from a famous family who helped him rise out of his poverty).

Sing Unto God | George F. Handel (1685-1759)
from Judas Maccabaeus

George Frederic Handel was a German composer from the Baroque era (1600-1750) and received his musical training in both Germany and Italy. He was influenced by both the Italian Baroque style and the polyphonic choral music used by German composers. Judas Maccabaeus composed in 1746 is an Oratorio in three acts. Sing Unto God is a celebration of the heroic actions of Judas Maccabaeus containing a plethora of melismas, energetic rhythms, and a jubilant chorus indicative of Baroque choral music.

Sing unto God, and high affections raise,
To crown this conquest with unmeasur'd praise.

He Watching Over Israel | Felix Mendelssohn (1809-1847)
from Elijah

Mendelssohn’s composition Elijah, 1846, is a work written about the Old Testament prophet Elijah. Elijah is modeled after the oratorios of the baroque masters, Bach and Handel, yet reflect the lyricism and style of early Romantic composers. In the chorus He Watching Over Israel, the choir represents a multitude of angels singing over a sleeping Elijah. They sing to remind him of God’s goodness and ever faithfulness.

Siehe, der Hüter Israels schläflt noch schlummert nicht.
He watching over Israel slumbers not, nor sleeps.

Wenn du mitten in Angst wandelst, so erquickt er dich.
Shouldst thou walking in grief, languish; He will quicken thee.

Even When He Is Silent | Kim André Arnesen (b. 1980)

The text of the piece Even When He Is Silent was found after World War II, written on the wall of a concentration camp. Imagining what that person went through makes the words so powerful. As I read them, it was a Credo - when everything is dark and difficult in life you might wonder where God is, or if God is there at all. This is about keeping faith in God, love, and hope. I think of the sun as a metaphor for hope.

- Kim Arnesen

I believe in the sun even when it’s not shining.
I believe in love even when I feel it not.
I believe in God even when He is silent.
Divi sirmi kumeliņi | arr. by Ethan Sperry (b. 1971)

Joe Donohue, Selena Sanchez, percussionists

Divi is a Latvian folk song arranged by Ethan Sperry to tell the story of the horses that God rides on. These horses can be heard in the percussion and the cross rhythms used in the melody. The piece is also an allegory for the oppression that Latvia experienced for many years. Throughout the piece, the listener can hear the longing of the people to be free, and the horses running and being restless in the stable are a representation of that.

Divi sirmi kumeliņi (Two grey steeds) is a mythological song about heavenly affairs. Here are two steeds belonging to God’s Sons: the Sun rises from their golden saddles, the Moon rises from their silver bridles, and the Morning Star flickers at the ends of the reins.

Divi sirmi kumeliņi
uzakmeņa auzaseda.

Two grey steeds
On a rock ate oats.

Dieva delu kumeliņi
Saules meitu precinieku.

They were the steeds of God’s Sons,
The steeds of those who would wed the Sun’s Daughter.

Pie segliemi saule leca,
Pie iemauktu menestinis.

Both had golden saddles,
[Both had] silver bridles.

Visiem bija zelta segli,
Sudra biņa iemauktiņi.

The sun rose from their saddles,
The moon rose from their bridles,

Pavadiņas galiņai
Rita zvaigzne ritinaja.

At the ends of their reins
The Morning Star flickered
[literally: rolled or bounced].
