Second Suite in F | Gustav Holst

Gustav Holst learned piano at an early age, but was stricken with a nerve condition that affected the movement of his right hand, forcing him to give up the piano for the trombone. He received his degrees from The Royal College of Music in London, where he met fellow composer (and lifelong friend) Ralph Vaughan Williams and became interested in Hindu mysticism and spirituality, interests that would later shape the course of his compositional output. In 1901, Holst married Isobel Harrison, who would remain with him the remainder of his life. In 1905, Holst became director of music at the St Paul's Girls' School in Hammersmith, London, and in 1907, he also became director of music at Morley College, retaining both positions until his death in 1934.

Movement I: March: Morris dance, Swansea Town, Claudy Banks

The "March" of the Second Suite begins with a simple five note motif between the low and high instruments of the band. The first folk tune is heard in the form of a traditional British brass band march using the morris-dance tune "Glorishears." After a brief climax, the second strain begins with a euphonium solo playing the second folk tune in the suite "Swansea Town." The third theme, called "Claudy Banks," is heard in a low woodwind soli, as is standard march orchestration. Then the first strain is repeated da capo.

Movement II: Song Without Words, "I'll Love My Love"

Holst places the fourth folk song, "I'll Love My Love" in stark contrast to the first movement. The movement begins with a chord from French horns and moves into a solo of clarinet with oboe over a flowing accompaniment in F Dorian.

Movement III: "Song of the Blacksmith"

Again, Holst contrasts the slow second movement to the rather upbeat third movement which features the folk song, "A Blacksmith Courted Me."

Movement IV: "Fantasia on the Dargason"

This movement is not based on any folk songs, but rather has two tunes from Playford's Dancing Master of 1651. The finale of the suite opens with an alto saxophone solo based on the folk tune "Dargason," a 16th Century English dance tune included in the first edition of The Dancing Master. The fantasia continues through several variations encompassing the full capabilities of the band. The final folk tune, "Greensleeves," is cleverly woven into the fantasia by the use of hemiolas.

Symphonic Variants | James Curnow

Curnow received his first musical instruction in the public schools of Michigan and The Salvation Army Instrumental Programs. He received a Bachelor of Music degree from Wayne State University and a Master of Music from Michigan State University, where he studied conducting with Harry Begian and euphonium with Leonard Falcone. Curnow studied composition with F. Maxwell Wood, James Gibb, Jere Hutchinson, and Irwin Fischer.

He has taught all areas and levels of instrumental music and has received numerous awards for teaching and composition: the Outstanding Educator of America (1974), the Citation of Excellence from the National Bandmaster's Association (1980), the Volkwein Award (1977 & 1979), the Ostwald Award (1980 & 1984).

One of the core repertoire works for the euphonium and also one of the most demanding works ever written for the instrument, the challenges of Symphonic Variants run the gamut of technical facility, range, endurance, and power to project and balance on the euphonium. Each movement hosts a variation on the primary theme presented in the opening statement, moving through several lyrical and technical moods before returning to the powerful original statement once more at the close of the piece. As both a dance and a dirge, James Curnow's Symphonic Variants demonstrates the limits of the euphonium in a unique and memorable tour de force.

In Evening's Stillness | Joseph Schwantner

In Evening's Stillness was commissioned by the Illinois College Band Directors Association in 1996. It was premiered at the Midwest Music Educators National Conference convention in Peoria, Illinois, by an ensemble made up of students from the ten universities that participated in the consortium, Donald Hunsberger conducting. As in his previous two works for wind ensemble, In Evening's Stillness was inspired by poetry:

In evening's stillness
a gentle breeze,
distant thunder
encircles the silence.

Characteristic compositional techniques include “shared monody,” “static pillars” of harmony (“blocks of sound,” remaining unchanged for a period of time), changing meters, ostinato (repeating bass figure) and contrasting dynamics/tempi/textural density. The instrumentation and physical arrangement of the musicians is quite different compared to the traditional wind ensemble. The setup, outlined in the score by the composer, requires bisecting the ensemble, woodwinds to one side and brass to the other, leaving percussion with a substantial setup in the rear and the piano taking center stage. Additionally, Schwantner does not call for saxophones or euphoniums; however, this work marks the first time that the composer writes for three non-doubling clarinet parts in his wind compositions.

Joseph Schwantner writes:

The piece is the third of three works I have written for winds, brass, percussion, and piano. It forms the middle movement of a trilogy of pieces that includes and the mountains rising nowhere and "From a Dark Millennium." In all three works, the piano is responsible for presenting the primary melodic, gestural, harmonic, and sonoric elements that unfold in the music. While each work is self-contained, I always envisioned the possibility that they could be combined to form a larger and more expansive three movement formal design.

Dusk | Steven Bryant

Steven Bryant's music is chiseled in its structure and intent, fusing lyricism, dissonance, silence, technology, and humor into lean, skillfully-crafted works that enthrall listeners and performers alike. Winner of the ABA Ostwald award and three-time winner of the NBA Revelli Award, Steven Bryant's music for wind ensemble has reshaped the genre. A prolific composer, his substantial catalogue of music is regularly performed throughout the world. Recently, his "Ecstatic Waters" was premiered by the Minnesota Orchestra to unanimous, rapturous acclaim. The son of a professional trumpeter and music educator, he strongly values music education, and his creative output includes a number of works for young and developing musicians.

Steven Bryant writes:

This simple, chorale-like work captures the reflective calm of dusk, paradoxically illuminated by the fiery hues of sunset. I'm always struck by the dual nature of this experience, as if witnessing an event of epic proportions silently occurring in slow motion. "Dusk" is intended as a short, passionate evocation of this moment of dramatic stillness. "Dusk" is part of a three-work "night cycle," continuing with The Marbled Midnight Mile and concluding with First Light.

"Dusk" was commissioned by the Langley High School Wind Symphony, Andrew Gekoskie, conductor, and was premiered in April 2004 at the MENC National Convention by the commissioning ensemble.

Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral | Richard Wagner, trans. Cailliet
from Loehengren

A German composer most notable for his magnificent and large operas, Richard Wagner was one of the most influential composers of the 19th century. Most famous of these compositions include Der Ring des Nibelungen, Tristan und Isolde, and Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg.

Lucien Cailliet, a clarinetist in the Philadelphia Orchestra and associate conductor of The Allentown Band in Pennsylvania, transcribed this original work of Wagner. Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral, with its medieval color and pageantry, prefaces her betrothal to Lohengrin, mystic Knight of the Holy Grail, who comes to deliver the people of Brabant (Antwerp) from the Hungarian invaders.

It is in this music, mystic yet powerful, that we find Wagner striking out with those new and intense musical thoughts that were to culminate in Tristan, The Ring, and Parsifal. Not quite emancipated from the musical speech of his operatic contemporaries, one finds in the Lohengrin score those unmistakable flights into musico-dramatic magnificence transcending all that preceded it in idiom and musical adventure.

ksu band program

David Kehler, Director of Bands

Debra Traficante, Associate Director of Bands/Director of Athletic Bands

Trey Harris, Assistant Director of Bands

Richard Peluso, Coordinator of Band Operations and Outreach

Founded in 1996 as a small community concert band, the KSU Band Program continues to see rapid growth and expansion. Now encompassing five major ensembles with over 450 participating students, the KSU Band program has become one of the largest programs in Georgia. Our ensembles are comprised of the finest music majors in the School of Music, as well as students that represent every college and degree program from both the Kennesaw and Marietta campuses, and include the KSU Wind Ensemble, KSU Wind Symphony, KSU University Band, KSU Basketball Band, and “The Marching Owls.”

KENNESAW STATE UNIVERSITY WIND ENSEMBLE

Formed in 1996, the Kennesaw State University Wind Ensemble performs a diverse repertoire encompassing large works for band, wind ensemble repertoire, and chamber music. The KSU Wind Ensemble continues to lead in supporting and creating consortiums for the development of new music, which have included the creation of new works by Steven Bryant, Paul Dooley, Geoffrey Gordon, Zhou Long, David Maslanka, Michael Markowski, Carter Pann, Joel Puckett, James Stephenson, Christopher Theofanidis, and Pulitzer Prize winner, Joseph Schwantner. In addition, leading composers Chen Yi, and Pulitzer Prize winners David Lang and Joseph Schwantner have recently visited and worked directly with the ensemble and its students.

Because of KSU's continued close relationship with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, Georgia Symphony Orchestra and Atlanta Opera Orchestra, collaborations and performances have resulted with many of those principal players. The KSU Wind Ensemble continues to serve as an important musical voice in the Atlanta Metropolitan area, and has been featured frequently on 90.1 FM (WABE- Atlanta public radio).

In 2012 and 2016, the KSU Wind Ensemble was a selected and featured ensemble at the Southern Division College Band Directors National Association Conferences, and in 2017, were featured at Georgia Music Educators Association Conference in Athens, Georgia. In addition, the KSU Wind Ensemble was the Winner of the 2013 American Prize for best wind ensemble/concert band performance in the United States, and in 2016, released its first professional recording under the Centaur recording label featuring the music of Chen Yi.

Artist-in-Residence in Euphonium

Paul Dickinson, a native of Darlington, South Carolina, works across the Southeast as both a performer and teacher. He recently joined the faculty at Kennesaw State University teaching tuba and euphonium.

His pleasing blend of technique and musicianship has earned him praises from some of the most respected brass musicians in the USA. and numerous placements in major regional, national, and international competitions. He has also been a semi-finalist for prestigious military band auditions. Paul currently serves as principal euphonium for the Gwinnett Symphony Wind Orchestra, principal baritone for the Georgia Brass Band, and principal euphonium for the Poinsett Wind Symphony based in Greenville, SC. He is a founding member of DIVERGENCE, a professional tuba quartet based in Atlanta, GA.

In addition to his pursuit of performance excellence, Paul has a passion for music education. He regularly works with middle school, high school, and collegiate students across the Southeast. For over a decade, he has been presenting master classes on a variety of issues facing developing brass musicians of all ages. In addition to his work with brass-specific pedagogy, Paul regularly works as a consultant and clinician for both concert and marching ensembles. In the past few years, his students have received high ratings at Solo and Ensemble festivals, won contracts with championship DCI corps, gained acceptance to highly competitive college studios, and have rapidly advanced to take top seats in university-level ensembles at strong music schools in the region. Several of his students now lead successful band programs in the Southeast.

Early in May 2014, Paul began the development of a recording project called Foundations. The purpose of Foundations is to provide an easily accessible catalogue of early-to-intermediate solos and etudes for the euphonium, tuba, and trombone as a resource for music teachers, high school students, and young college musicians. The first album is now available for free perusal on Paul's website, www.DickinsonBrass.com, and future albums are in development for 2016-2017.

Paul holds degrees in Music Education and Performance from Furman University (BME, '11), Georgia State University (MM, '13), and Florida State University (DM, '16). He was primarily taught by Mark Britt (trombone), Fred Boyd (trombone), and Mike Taylor.
