Adelaïde | Ludwig van Beethoven, poem by Friedrich von Matthisson

Your friend wanders alone in the garden of spring,
Gently bathed in lovely magical light,
Which shimmers through the swaying branches of flowers:
Adelaide!

In the reflection of the river, in the snows of the Alps,
In the golden clouds of sinking day,
In the fields of stars thy face beams forth,
Adelaide!

Evening breezes whisper through the tender leaves
The silver bells at Maytime rustle in the grass,
Waves roar and nightingales sing,
Adelaide!

Some day, o miracle! a flower will blossom,
Upon my grave from the ashes of my heart;
And clearly on every violet petal will shine:
Adelaide!

I Pastori | Ildo Brando Pizzetti, poem by Gabriele d’Annunzio

September, let us go. It is time to migrate.
Now in the land of the Abruzzi my shepherds leave the folds and journey towards the sea;
they descend to the wild Adriatic, which is green like the mountain pastures.
They have drunk deeply at the Alpine springs,
so that the taste of that native water remains in their exiled hearts for comfort, to delude their thirst for long on the way.
And they go along the old drove-paths to the plain,
as if along a silent grassy river, in the footsteps of their forebears.
Ah the voice of him who first recognizes the trembling of the sea!
Now along the shore moves the flock. The air is motionless. The sun gilds so the living wool that it hardly appears different from the sand. Sea-washing, treading, sweet sounds. Ah why am I not with my shepherds?
Ideale | Francesco Paolo Tosti, poem by Carmelo Errico

I followed you like a rainbow of peace
along the paths of heaven;
I followed you like a friendly torch
in the veil of darkness,
and I sensed you in the light, in the air,
in the perfume of flowers,
and the solitary room was full
of you and of your radiance.

Absorbed by you, I dreamed a long time
of the sound of your voice,
and earth’s every anxiety, every torment
I forgot in that dream.
Come back, dear ideal, for an instant
to smile at me again,
and in your face will shine for me
a new dawn.

Vaghissima sembianza | text and music by Stefano Donaudy

Very charming image of a woman formerly loved,
who, then, has portrayed you with so much similarity
that I look, and I speak, and I believe to have you before me as in the beautiful days of love?

The dear remembrance which has been awakened
in my heart so ardently has revived my hopes,
so that a kiss, a vow, a cry of love?
more I do not ask of her who is silent forever

How Fair the Spot | Sergei Rachmaninoff, poem by Glafira Adol’fovna Galina

All is well here...
Look, in the distance
The river glows like a fire;
The meadows are like a colourful carpet,
And there is the whiteness of clouds.
There is nobody here.
All is quiet...
Here I am alone with God.
And the flowers, and the old pine,
And you, my dream...

In the Silence of the Secret Night | Rachmaninoff, poem by Afanasiy Fet

Oh, for a long while, in the silence of the mysterious night,
Your beguiling murmur, smile, fleeting glance,
A luscious strand of your hair, obedient to my fingers,
Will I banish from my thoughts - but then recall again;
Breathing impulsively, alone, unseen by anyone,
Blushing and burning with vexation and shame,
I will search for secret messages
In the words you uttered;
Whisper and reconsider the phrases
Of my embarrassed conversations with you,
And, as if intoxicated, against all reason,
With your cherished name awaken the nightly haze.

Spring Waters | Rachmaninoff, poem by Fyodor Turchev

The fields are covered still with snow,
But Spring has swollen all the streams.
They run and sparkle as they go,
And wake the shores from drowsy dreams.

They call out loudly on their way:
“Spring’s coming on! Spring’s coming on!
We bring the message here today,
That’s why we meet you on the run!

Spring’s coming on! Spring’s coming on!
And soon the lovely days of May
Will follow happily along
And dance a merry roundelay!”
