Miniature Overture - Jack Stamp

Miniature Overture was commissioned by Ernest Mills and the Kearsage Regional High School Band in North Sutton, New Hampshire. The request was for a short work that would be playable by a large number of high school bands throughout the country.

The piece is based upon three ideas: a unifying polychordal harmonic figure (heard in the first measure), a melody based on the interval of a fourth, and a folk-like, slow melody. The melodic material is put through several processes including stretto, canon, inversion, and simultaneous recapitulation. It was my hope to make a significant teaching piece in this short, three-minute setting.

The work is dedicated to my high school band director, Donald K. Smith. He was the band director at High Point High School in Beltsville, Maryland. As I enter my 31st year of teaching, I look back on my experience in his band and realize how it molded me as a musician/teacher. He taught us the pursuit of excellence, had the highest of standards for both the band and himself, and taught us self-discipline and self-motivation. He also provided quality musical experiences for us. Little did I know that other high school bands were not playing Persichetti’s Symphony for Band, Grainger’s Lincolnshire Posy, Nixon’s Fiesta del Pacifico, and Vaughan Williams’s Toccata Marziale, just to name a few.

Most recently I have been reunited with Mr. Smith, and I thought it appropriate to dedicate one of my compositions to a person who was so influential in my musical life.

Greek Folk Song Suite - Franco Cesarini

The typical instruments of Greek folk music are the clarinet, the mandolin, the violin, various types of tambourines, and the characteristic “buzuki.” Greek folk music consists of a repertoire of three main groups of songs: traditional folksongs (dimotiko), folksongs from the immigrants (rebetika), and songs from contemporary composers. The best-known author of Greek folk music is Mikis Theodorakis who, in addition to his political engagement against the fascist regime, has spread, through his melodies, the texts of the main Greek poets.

In Greek Folk Song Suite, Franco Cesarini has elaborated three songs belonging to the most ancient tradition. The first, O Haralambis, is in 7/8 time, typical of a popular folk dance called kalamatianos. Originally, the song O Haralambis was sung to “tease” during weddings, since the text of the song refers to a young man who refuses to marry. The central part of the piece includes another folk song called I Voskopula. The second movement, Stu Psiloriti, refers to an ancient song from the Island of Crete. The Psiloritis is the highest peak of the Ida Mountains. The third movement of the suite is based on the song Vasilikos tha gino, a very ancient song of the Ipeiros region. Some characteristics of this movement are a reminder of the sirtaki, the most popular Greek dance abroad.

Lichtweg / Lightway - Jennifer Jolley
Lichtweg / Lightway is a wind ensemble piece based on the Keith Sonnier’s light installation in Connecting Level 03 in Terminal 1 at the Munich Airport. Bright fluorescent neon lights line the walls of a typical airport walkway to both guide travelers to where they are going and to help them cope with the stress of being in transit.

In this piece I musically portray the rhythmic placement of red and blue light emanating from this neon installation by creating a constant eighth-note ostinato that is heard throughout the piece. Just as the panes of glass, mirrors, and aluminum sheets refract and scatter the colorful neon light, this ostinato is diffused amongst the different colors in the ensemble. (Jennifer Jolley)

The Ramparts - Clifton Williams
The Ramparts, Concert Overture for Band, was commissioned by the United States Air Force Academy Cadet Welfare Fund, in commemoration of the Academy’s tenth anniversary. The title refers to the Rampart Range of the Rocky Mountains that rise to the west of the Academy in Colorado Springs, CO. The fanfare opening by the brass conveys the height and majesty or this mountain range, while the woodwinds provide rapid phrases that represent the challenges and dangers that exist. A slow, hymn-like section was included for the Cadet Chorale. Entitled “What Greater Thing,” it has been performed at every Academy commencement since the 1965 premiere and has become an unofficial Alma Mater song. (Publisher/David Bruce Adams)

From the Ramparts we will go into the sky,
    Far away from comrades here,
    To whatever fate may bring:
    Fame, or glory, even death.
    But no matter what may come,
    Life is better, purpose more, honor bright
Because ‘twas here we first beheld, What greater thing could be.

Flourish for Wind Band - Ralph Vaughan Williams
“This short work was scored for military band with numerous clarinets, cornets, saxophones, euphoniums and timpani. Having been written as an overture to a pageant in the Royal Albert Hall, the score was then lost -- only to reappear in 1971. Upon its discovery the work was adapted twice by Roy Douglas -- first for brass band and then for symphony orchestra. The orchestral version is scored for wind instruments, together with double basses, timpani and percussion. This version had its first performance by the Tunbridge Wells Symphony Orchestra in 1974. The original and the adaptations have all been published by Oxford University Press, although no recordings are known.” (Steve Schwartz)

Hold This Boy and Listen - Carter Pann
Hold This Boy and Listen (2008) is an unusually soft and subdued song for band, written for my third nephew, David Paulus, Jr. I sat down at the piano and wrote a lyrical work where the melodies and harmonies return, creating a structure not unlike standard song structure. The sentiment is at times innocent or wistful and at other times haunted and serene. The players should really be allowed to sing through their instruments in this piece. (Program Note from the score)
Old Churches - Michael Colgrass

Colgrass wrote Old Churches in 2000 on a commission from the American Composer's Forum.

According to composer Michael Colgrass, Old Churches is one of the most challenging pieces he can remember writing. His goal was to create music that was interesting, expressive and challenging, yet playable by students in the early stages of performing on their instruments and who are also unfamiliar with modern music techniques.

His solution was to write a work based on Gregorian vocal chant with unison melodies. Playing in unison helps student musicians feel more confident, and allowed Colgrass to copiously double the melodic lines. The tempo is slow; the phrases are all in quarter and eighth notes, and the harmonies are simple. Some graphic notation and chance techniques are employed, such as pitches played without rhythm, and a murmuring effect that simulates the idea of voices echoing in monastic churches.

Old Churches uses Gregorian chant to create a slightly mysterious monastery scene filled with the prayers and chanting of monks in an old church. Gregorian chant is ancient church music and that has been in existence for over 1500 years. The chant unfolds through call and response patterns. One monk intones a musical idea, then the rest of the monks respond by singing back. This musical conversation continues throughout the piece, with the exception of a few brief interruptions. Perhaps they are the quiet comments church visitors make to one another. (Program Note from the score)

Emblems - Aaron Copland

In May, 1963, I received a letter from Keith Wilson, President of the College Band Directors National Association, asking me to accept a commission from that organization to compose a work for band. He wrote: ‘The purpose of this commission is to enrich the band repertory with music that is representative of the composer's best work, and not one written with all sorts of technical or practical limitations.’ That was the origin of Emblems. I began work on the piece in the summer of 1964 and completed it in November of that year. It was first played at the CBDNA National Convention in Tempe, Arizona, on December 18, 1964, by the Trojan Band of the University of Southern California, conducted by William Schaefer.

Keeping Mr. Wilson’s injunction in mind, I wanted to write a work that was challenging to young players without overstraining their technical abilities. The work is tripartite in form: slow-fast-slow, with the return of the first part varied. Embedded in the quiet, slow music the listener may hear a brief quotation of a well-known hymn tune Amazing Grace, published by William Walker in The Southern Harmony in 1835. Curiously enough, the accompanying harmonies had been conceived first, without reference to any tune. It was only a chance of perusal of a recent anthology of old ‘Music in America’ that made me realize a connection existed between my harmonies and the old hymn tune.

An emblem stands for something - it is a symbol. I called the work Emblems because it seemed to me to suggest musical states of being: noble or aspirational feelings, playful or spirited feelings. The exact nature of these emblematic sounds must be determined for himself by each listener. (Aaron Copland)
