Melvin Jones

Hailing from the “Home of the Blues” Memphis, Tennessee, Melvin Jones’ first professional recording opportunity came in 1998 while enrolled at Morehouse College when he appeared on TLC’s triple platinum hit album “Fanmail,” most notably on their smash hit No Scrubs. During that same year, Melvin along with other classmates formed a wildly successful Latin Jazz Ensemble named Rio Negro that went forward to record three albums under their own name, while performing nationally before audiences that would later include two sitting U.S. Presidents. After graduating Cum Laude from Morehouse College in 2001, Jones went forward to graduate Summa Cum Laude with a Master’s Degree in Music from the Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University (New Jersey). At Rutgers, he received the potent and intensive instruction of the late, world-renowned educator and trumpet impresario, William “Prof” Fielder, whose student roster includes such prolific musical figures as Wynton Marsailis, Terence Blanchard, Mike Mossman, Sean Jones, and Terrell Stafford.

Following a few years of high profile work in the Northeastern Region, Melvin dramatically slowed the pace of his performance career to serve as the Director of Bands and Instrumental Studies for his alma mater Morehouse College. At the age of 24, “Mr. Jones” officially became the youngest professor/ band director in the college’s history, and under his leadership the Morehouse College “House of Funk” Marching Band re-established itself nationally as a powerhouse amongst HBCU Band Programs. Additionally, the Jazz Ensemble’s Spring Festival Series (initiated by his predecessor Dr. Tim Turner) continued to flourish garnering the talents of such esteemed musicians as Don Braden, Russell Gunn, Freddy Cole, and award-winning composer and trumpet virtuoso, Terence Blanchard.

After six years of service, Jones resigned from his position at Morehouse College to resume his performance endeavors full time. Almost immediately he began touring with Tyler Perry’s company on his production, “Madea’s Big Happy Family” which led to multiple national and international tours with Perry’s Company as well as multiple movie and television appearances on both sides of the camera. Since then, Melvin has toured, recorded, and/or performed extensively around the world with such artists as PJ Morton, Patti Labelle, Illinois Jacquet, Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin, Jason Marsalis, Jennifer Holliday, Stevie Wonder, Arrested Development, Young Jeezy, Marcus Roberts, The Anointed Pace Sisters, Missy Elliott, Johnny Gill, the Pussycat Dolls, Steve Turre, Gladys Knight, and the list goes on and on. Jones career has been all over the map having appeared on over 100 recordings, multiple television programs, performing in the house orchestras of multiple awards shows and talk shows, and appearing on stages across the world on four of the seven continents playing multiple genres of music.

Melvin was a favorite at Jazz at Lincoln Center’s Club in Qatar (UAE), notably hosting and performing for a small, private evening for the Former First Lady of the United States, Michelle Obama. Jones also serves concurrently as an Artist-in-Residence for the “Mentoring Through the Music Arts” Program co-sponsored by the United Jazz Foundation and the US Virgin Islands Department of Education, as well as serving as the Trumpet Professor at Morehouse College. Currently, Jones is enlisted as a member of the all star house orchestra as part of an extensive tour with Award Winning Director, Writer, and Media Mogul, Tyler Perry. With a work ethic that does not rest until the job(s) are done, Jones spends the rest of his “time off” either arranging, recording, contracting horn sections, or with his beautiful family. It’s clear that he is walking his destined musical path with no intentions of turning back.

Brad Cannata

Brad Cannata, originally born in Killeen, Texas, is a bassist from Augusta, Georgia. Cannata primarily lived in Hephzibah, Georgia, but attended Davidson Fine Arts School in downtown Augusta where he began learning classical percussion. As a sophomore, Cannata also attended an after-school music program known as J.A.M.P. Playing guitar for this young ensemble under the direction of James Brown guitarist, Kieth Jenkins, Cannata would perform Mr. Brown’s music across many stages and create an integral part of his musical identity. Augusta saxophonist and flutist, Gray Mayfield mentored Cannata and sparked interests in jazz improvisation and experimental music as he approached graduation from Davidson. Mayfield’s background in music was significant in Cannata’s decision to attend Kennesaw State. The roots in funk, curiosity with jazz improvisation, and strong connection to wonderful teachers/peers have elevated Cannata’s skills, offering him multiple opportunities to perform in the Atlanta music scene.

Doug Lindsey

Dr. Douglas Lindsey joined the faculty at Kennesaw State University in the fall of 2012, and is very active in the Southeast. Recently as a soloist, he has been a featured artist with the Memphis Symphony, the Kennesaw State Orchestra, the Kennesaw State Wind Ensemble, the Georgia Brass Band, at the International Trumpet Guild conference, at the Atlanta Trumpet Festival, and at the Trumpet Festival of the Southeast. An advocate of new music, over the course of two years he has premiered 4 new works for trumpet. Alongside pianist, Judy Cole, he has performed solo recitals all over the Southeast as a founding member of Duo Trompiano. In addition to solo work, Dr. Lindsey enjoys an active chamber music career as first trumpet with the Premiere Brass, as founding member of the Atlanta Trumpet League, and as a member of the Isthmus Brass. As an orchestral musician, he regularly performs as the principal trumpet of the Georgia Symphony Orchestra, as section trumpet with the Atlanta Symphony, the Memphis Symphony, the Macon Symphony, and spent two summers at the Aspen Music Festival. As an educator, he maintains a vibrant studio of young trumpeters at KSU and at various high schools in the area, and recently started a popular regional high school ensemble, the North-Atlanta Trumpet Ensemble. Most recently, the KSU trumpet ensemble garnered praise at the 2015 International Trumpet Guild conference where they performed Erik Morale’s Infinite Ascent, and continue to find success at the National Trumpet Competition with their consecutive semi-finalist placements. Other studio accomplishments include multiple winners from the International Trumpet Guild scholarship contest, job placements, successful graduate school placements, and multiple winners of KSU’s concerto competition.

Dr. Lindsey’s former duties as music history lecturer at KSU as well as his many experiences on the cornetto and the baroque trumpet reflect his keen interest in the fields of early music and musicology.
As an avid composer and arranger, he enjoys creating work for trumpet ensemble, brass quintet, and brass ensembles. His published dissertation, “Beyond the Galant,” is an arrangement of four Haydn symphonies for trumpet with historical information about Haydn, performance practice, and the history behind many of the works. This work is distributed by Hickey’s music and available at www.hickeys.com. His many other arrangements and compositions are available on his website www.dougtrumpeter.com.

Previous to his time at KSU, Dr. Lindsey played concerts all over Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Illinois with the acclaimed Wisconsin Brass Quintet. Prior to his tenure with WBQ, Dr. Lindsey performed with the Yale Faculty Brass trio in a series of concerts ending in Carnegie Hall in New York City. In addition to the faculty brass, Dr. Lindsey also pursued a busy schedule with the Atticus Brass Quintet – winner of the 2009 Aspen Music Festival Quintet Fellowship. With Atticus, Dr. Lindsey had the opportunity to play outreach concerts all over Connecticut, perform alongside the American Brass Quintet, and play an exclusive concert on the Millennium Stage of the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C.

Previous to earning his DMA at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Dr. Lindsey studied with Allan Dean at Yale, earning his Master of Music with the distinction of winning the John Swallow excellence in brass prize. Prior to Yale he studied with Ray Mase, Louis Ranger, Kevin Cobb, Scott Moore and Richard Rulli. Dr. Lindsey received his music performance and music education degrees magna cum laude from the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville.

Dr. Lindsey is a Schilke performing artist and performs on Facet Mutes.
Brian Shaw

“Brian Shaw epitomizes the versatile twenty-first century trumpeter.” – Elisa Koehler, Fanfares and Finesse

Brian Shaw is the Julian & Sidney Carruth Associate Professor of Trumpet/Jazz Studies at LSU. He is also Principal Trumpet of the Baton Rouge Symphony, Co-Principal Trumpet of the Dallas Winds, and enjoys an international performing career as a modern and historical trumpet artist.

A native of Southeastern Illinois, Brian was first inspired to play the trumpet when he had a front row seat to hear the great Maynard Ferguson in concert in 1988. Mentored in the public schools by his first trumpet teacher and band director Steven Bell, Brian mostly learned to play music by ear from recordings. He attended Eastern Illinois University (BMus.) where he studied trumpet with W. Parker Melvin and arranging with Allan Horney, the Eastman School (M.Mus) where he studied trumpet with James Thompson and jazz writing with Fred Sturm and Bill Dobbins, and the University of Texas at Austin (DMA), where he studied trumpet with Ray Sasaki.

Shaw has won prizes in four international trumpet competitions and is the dedicatee of several new works, including Brett William Dietz’s concerto redshift and Joseph Turrin’s Two Images. He can also be heard as principal trumpet on recordings with the Dallas Wind Symphony (Reference Recordings), the professional choral ensemble Conspirare (Harmonia Mundi), the University of Texas Wind Ensemble (Naxos), and the Eastman Wind Ensemble (Danzante, Summit Records). His books and transcriptions are published by Advance Music, Presser, Schott, and Universal Edition.

A noted Baroque trumpet player, Shaw toured Europe in early 2015 with the Boston Early Music Festival Orchestra, performing at L’Opéra Royal (Versailles), the Théâtre des Champs-Elysées (Paris), Auditorio Nacional de Música (Madrid), the Concertgebouw (Amsterdam) among other revered concert halls. His 2008 recording Virtuoso Concertos for Clarino includes some of the most difficult pieces ever written for the instrument and was accompanied by an orchestra made up of New York’s finest period musicians. Early Music America observed: “Shaw’s tone is beautiful, and his playing unfailingly musical…”
His is a voice that will make a major mark on Baroque trumpet playing.”

Recently Shaw has performed Bach’s Brandenburg Concerto No. 2 with the BRSO and Santa Fe Pro Musica, and was guest soloist with the Kansas City-based Spire Chamber Ensemble. In addition, he played Handel’s Messiah at St. Thomas Church in New York and at Kansas City’s Kauffman Center. In past years, Shaw was a featured soloist at the American Musicological Society Conference (Michael Haydn Concerto in C Major), the American Guild of Organists Conference, performed in Carnegie Hall with the English Concert (Handel’s Rinaldo), was guest principal trumpet with the St. Louis Symphony, Santa Fe Pro Musica, Bach Society Houston, and soloist with the Acadiana Symphony (Lafayette). Recently, he has performed in concert alongside saxophonist Branford Marsalis, as guest principal trumpet of the Kansas City Symphony, made his debut on keyed trumpet (performing Haydn’s Concerto in E-flat with Austin’s La Follia Baroque), and was a trumpet soloist featured with the Eastman Wind Ensemble on Fisher Tull’s Rhapsody and with the Dallas Wind Symphony on John Williams’ “With Malice Toward None” from the Spielberg film Lincoln. In 2014, Shaw was the only American Baroque trumpet soloist featured in the final concert of the International Trumpet Guild Conference, and in the same year performed as a soloist with the Hong Kong Wind Philharmonia.

His critically acclaimed solo recordings include redshift, (accompanied by the Dallas Wind Symphony), and his 2008 Baroque album, Virtuoso Concertos for Clarino. As a jazz trumpet player, Brian plays regularly with the LSU jazz faculty and leads a big band in Baton Rouge every December, which just released a holiday-themed album titled Christmas at the Manship! Brian continues his work as co-author (with Nick Smart, Royal Academy of Music) on a biography of legendary jazz trumpeter and composer Kenny Wheeler, titled Song for Someone, which will be published by Equinox Books, London. He is proud to be a Yamaha Performing Artist. He directs the LSU Jazz Ensemble, which has hosted such luminaries as Peter Erskine, Wayne Bergeron, Denis DiBlasio, Wycliffe Gordon, Rufus Reid, and Bobby Shew during his leadership. Shaw is also an active jazz composer, arranger, and transcriber, with dozens of scores to his credit. Currently, he is working as co-author (with Nick Smart of the Royal Academy of Music, London) of a biography titled Song For Someone: The Musical Life of Kenny Wheeler for Equinox Books, UK.

Brian Shaw is proud to be a Yamaha Performing Artist.
